January 2012

Happy New Year's! Here we are, rapidly approaching the end of the first semester. Please continue to encourage your child(ren) to stay focused on academics and to stay committed to attend school each day. Also encourage them to take advantage of instructional support that is provided by teachers as often as needed.

On our part, we work diligently to ensure a safe and secure learning environment where each student receives the instruction they need to be successful. If you see where we can improve, please do not hesitate to let me know.

We are working to finalize details for the registration process to lead us into the 2012-2013 school year. Watch for emails and announcements that we will send home via the Messenger email system and with your child(ren). This process begins later in January for the rising 9th graders, currently at Centreville and Sudlersville middle schools. In February our current students (grades 9-11) will receive their information. We will continue the online registration process that we began a couple years ago.

Here are a few more dates for your reference:

Also, the date for graduation has been finalized as Friday June 1, 2012. We will hold the graduation in the gym at QACHS with the real-time simulcast in the John F. Andrews Auditorium to provide additional seating for families. The auditorium has comfortable theater seating and is air conditioned.

The year is almost at the halfway point.

Thank you for your continued support of our efforts to serve you and your family!

Go Lions!

Conrad
